

bert G's and Billy Sims Barbecue. Elmer's BBQ rounds out this year's top three.

Oklahoma City residents love their barbecue, and when they're craving a big hunk of meat, they head to Earl's Rib Palace. Iron Starr Urban Barbeque comes in second place for their citified take on barbecue.

Leo's BBQ and Steve's Rib & Sports Grill share the third spot.

Best Kept Secret

There are always great restaurants that only you and a few of your friends know about – and you'd love to keep it that way. This year, our Tulsa readers said that PJ's Sandwich Shoppe is the city's best-kept secret. Also making this year's list is Dragonmoon Tea Company and casual upscale eateries Lucky's Restaurant and Palate at Ranch Acres.

In Oklahoma City, the authentic German restaurant and bakery Ingrid's Kitchen earns top honors as the city's best kept secret. Big Truck Tacos takes second place, while gourmet grocer and eatery Market C comes in third.

Breakfast

Everyone appreciates a great breakfast; after all, it is the most important meal of the day. Tops in Tulsa is Brookside By Day, followed by Utica Square hotspot Wild Fork. The ubiquitous diners in Tulsa, Phill's Diner and Blue Dome Diner round out this year's list.

Omelets, French toast and over easy eggs are served up in breakfast places across the OKC metro. Our readers have voted Jimmy's Egg as the place for the best breakfast in Oklahoma City. Classen Grill follows in second place, while The Diner in Norman receives third.
